ADAMS WILL RETAIN HIS POST

GETS FLOOR, CASTS HIS VOTE

Washington (P)—The White House said late Tuesday President Eisenhower still has no intention of firing Sherman Adams and that the top presidential aide has no plans to resign.

Adams swore Tuesday that he never used his White House position to attempt to gain favored treatment from government agencies for Bernard Goldfine or anyone else.

But Adams conceded to House investigators that "a greater measure of prudence would have obviated some of the questions before your committee"—a group exploring his relations with Gold-fine, a wealthy Boston industrialist.

Adams listened grimly and intently to an accusation that he obtained some information on Goldfine's troubles with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in violation of laws and rules governing these agencies.

And in the end, President Eisenhower's chief assistant acknowledged that implications and inferences could be drawn with some justification that his actions were open to question. He said that in the light of experience, "I would have acted a little more prudently. . . I cannot wholly disagree with some of the implications in your question."

The question, by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), was whether Adams thought he may have overstepped the bounds of propriety in his efforts on behalf of his old friend Goldfine.

No White House Doubts
If Harris entertained any doubts, Eisenhower was said to have none.

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower still has full confidence in Adams, and he added: "I know of absolutely no plans to change the present existing position of the governor (Adams) as assistant to the president."

A reporter asked whether it would be fair to say Eisenhower "still has full confidence in Adams—that Adams is not being fired, or resigning, and that the President approves of the testimony he (Adams) gave today."

Hagerty paused a moment, had the official stenographer read back the question, and then replied: "Yes, on all counts."

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.), a member of the subcommittee which heard Adams' testimony, said Adams should resign the White House position. Bennett is the first Republican member of the group to voice such a demand.

Sen. John J. Williams (R-De), who had previously criticized Adams' action in the case, told the Senate that "Mr. Adams' resignation is in order."

Hearing Room Packed
Adams spent 2 not entirely comfortable hours testifying before a House subcommittee and a wall-bulging crowd in the big House caucus room.

Afterward, subcommittee chairman Harris told newsmen he regards Adams' actions as "highly improper for a party in his position." As to whether Adams now should resign or Eisenhower should fire him, Harris said:

"Mr. Adams would have to search his own conscience and Mr. Eisenhower should do likewise."

At the White House, Hagerty announced that Eisenhower once had received material for a coat from Goldfine. But Hagerty said Eisenhower gave it to somebody else—he doesn't know who—and wrote a letter of appreciation to Goldfine.

There were gifts in the other direction, too, Adams said—a gold watch, a silver dish, a painting by his wife.

A $2,400 Oriental rug now decorating his Washington home, Adams said, was a loan which was and still is Goldfine's property. A valuable vicuna coat, he said, was tailored from fabrics which cost one of Goldfine's textile mills only $69, he said.

Hagerty Says Ike Gave Cloth Away

... Can't Remember Who Got It

Washington (P)—The White House acknowledged Tuesday that President Eisenhower accepted a supply of expensive vicuna cloth from industrialist Bernard Goldfine. It said Eisenhower gave the cloth away.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told that to reporters in a special news conference he called to rip into an article by columnist Drew Pearson which Hagerty said contained at least 10 "complete falsehoods."

Pearson hit back with a statement that "hit dog howls." He said this isn't the first time Hagerty "has denied a story that happens to be true."

Declaring that Eisenhower "has received more gifts than any other President during the 30 years I have covered Washington," Pearson said Congress should investigate "this amazing array of gifts and whether any taxes were paid" by the gift donors.

Pearson wrote that Eisenhower had received a vicuna coat from Goldfine. Hagerty said "this is not true."

2 Coats
He added that the President does have 2 vicuna coats, one of which he has had since the mid-1940s, the other acquired about 1952. Hagerty didn't say how Eisenhower had obtained them.

The press secretary said, however, it was true that Eisenhower had received some vicuna cloth from Goldfine along about 1952 but gave it to a friend. Hagerty added that Eisenhower does not remember the name of the friend.

He said Eisenhower wrote Goldfine a thank you letter for the vicuna material, as well as for nice things Goldfine had said about the administration.

Hagerty was asked why Eisenhower had accepted the material. He replied that all Presidents receive gifts.

'Goldfine Name Not On Cloth'

... Vic Got Gift

Gov. Victor Anderson said Tuesday he received a gift of wool cloth following the Governors Conference of 1955 and that it bore the card of Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire with no mention of the manufacturer of the product, Bernard Goldfine.

Anderson was one of 17 governors and ex-governors around the nation who said Tuesday they had received such a gift following the 1955 conference.

Anderson said the governors often receive products manufactured in a governor's home state.

"It has nothing to do with influence," Anderson stated, adding, "If I took something from someone dealing with the state, it would be a different matter."

Nebraska's chief executive said he will not accept any gift of value from someone doing business with the state, "nor will I permit any state department heads to receive anything of value."

The governor said he has never used the material nor removed it from the package in which it came.

Hardly any of the governors and ex-governors reporting receipt of the material knew the wool came from Goldfine, most of them thought it was from Dwinell.

calling for a state sales tax and the right for 18 year-olds to vote, Myers led his party to wins in all but one state race.

Other state officers elected were:

Lieutenant Governor: Bob Kurtz of Long Pine, National.
Secretary of State: LeRoy Bentz of Lincoln, National.
State Treasurer: John Abrahamson of Lincoln, National.
State Auditor: Lynn Hoepfner of Neligh, Federal.
Attorney General: Ronald Michka of Omaha, National.
Railway Commissioner: Jerry Johnson of Scotia, Arvin Enzel of Friend, and Phil Swaim of Lincoln, all Nationalists.

Non-Political
Chief Justice of Supreme Court: Ronald Devish of Broken Bow.
State School Board: David Dyke of Lexington.

Named winners of the contest on knowledge of government were Philip Dow of Lincoln and Steven Bergquist of Omaha who tied with scores of 96 points of a possible 100.

Other contest places went to:

Stephen Fisk and Richard Ahlstrand, both of Omaha, tied for third, William Cox of Omaha, fifth, Jerry Woods and Don Kelley, both of Grand Island, tied for sixth, Sidney Chesin of Lincoln and

Aqua-Air Displays Flock In

A seemingly endless flow of exhibits on boating and outdoor equipment to be featured at the Lincoln Air Force Base Aqua-Air Show Thursday through Sunday are now being moved onto the display area overlooking the new Bowling Lake.

The displays are in addition to a water skiing show and flying demonstrations by several types of jets, including 2 air acrobatics teams.

Among the displays will be about 125 boats, and 100 outboard motors, boat and camping trailers, boat-building kits and water ski and aquatic equipment.

Sports cars, aircraft, a special passenger bus, an English water scooter and automobile displays will also be shown during the 4-day show at the new base recreation area.

Roger Laub and James Green, both of Omaha, all tied for eighth.

Prior to Tuesday's election the boys attended party conventions and participated in city, county and state conventions.

A candidate for the legislature was elected but was forced to leave the American Legion sponsored Boys State.

James L. Nissen of Page contracted chicken pox and had to return home. Nissen was isolated from the rest of the boys when it was discovered he was ill, according to the counsellors.

Omahan Jane Rosch Is Girls State Governor

By Nancy Shirley
Jane Rosch of Omaha was elected Tuesday as Governor of 1958 Girls State.

A member of the National party, Jane won over Vicki torious National party, which copped 6 of the possible 9 state offices.

Other state officials elected were:

Political
Secretary of State: Linda Jensen of Grand Island, National.
State Treasurer: Merry Perry of Holdrege, National.
State Auditor: Karen Muehlich of Schuyler, National.
Attorney General: Marcia McDermott of Grand Island, Federal.
Railway Commissioners: Suzanne Shepherd of Omaha and Nancy Sorenson of Hardy, Federal, and Anna Witte of Clay Center, National.

Non-Political
Chief Justice Supreme Court: Margaret McCracken of Omaha.

The elections climaxed a hectic day of campaigning both on the part of parties and campaigners themselves.

Exam Winners
Girls State officials also announced the examination winners, with Lynda Brayman of Omaha receiving the top score. The 10 other high scorers were: Joan Brown of Palmer, Carol Powell of Omaha, Ann Fahrnbuch of Crete, Frances Pont of Stanton, Rozanne Seporin of Omaha, Marla Fortkamp of Champion, Janice Hayes of Gurley, Carol Hackett of Kearney, and Karen Luebbers of Osmond.

Tuesday's activities were climaxed by an address by District Judge Jackson B. Chase on "The Juvenile Court in Nebraska," and a speech by Attorney Warren Urbom on "An Introduction to the Nebraska Courts."

Wednesday's activities will include inaugural ceremonies for elected officers and an evening panel on "The Threshold Years," led by Rex Knowles, University of Nebraska pastor for Congregational - Presbyterian Fellowship.

Free Barbershop Singfest Slated At Pioneers Park

The Lincoln Singfest Committee will sponsor a free program of barbershop quartet singing Wednesday at 8 p.m., in Pinewood Bowl at Pioneers Park.

Members of the Lincoln chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America and the Sweet Adelines will appear on the program.

The Midlanders, a quartet from Omaha, will be featured and the Farminaires and Gaslighters and Barb-O-Links quartets will also sing.

'PRAY FOR ME, I THINK I'M DYING'—

Brother, Grandmother Save Buried Boy, 8

Omaha (P)—Richard, 12, and John Vaida, 8, of Edna, Tex., dug a tunnel Tuesday in the bank of a sand pit.

Then they moved in and sat down for a little rest.

But in a few minutes there was an ominous rumbling sound.

Richard dove toward the opening. John didn't move so fast.

Then down poured the sand. Richard was partially covered. John was buried under about 2 feet of sand.

For a minute or 2 Richard burrowed into the sand with his hands. Then he realized he alone couldn't free John.

He jumped up and sprinted about 100 yards to the farm home of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Vaida.

Vaida grabbed a shovel and with Mrs. Vaida ran with Richard to the tunnel. There Vaida, 72, who has a heart ailment, collapsed.

Mrs. Vaida, 73, and Richard dug with the shovel until they uncovered an arm.

Fearing they would injure John if they kept using the shovel, they tossed it aside and began scooping away the sand with their hands.

They uncovered John about 15 minutes after he was buried.

John was unconscious.

But Richard knew what to do. He applied artificial respiration, grandmother Vaida alternated by blowing her breath into John's mouth.

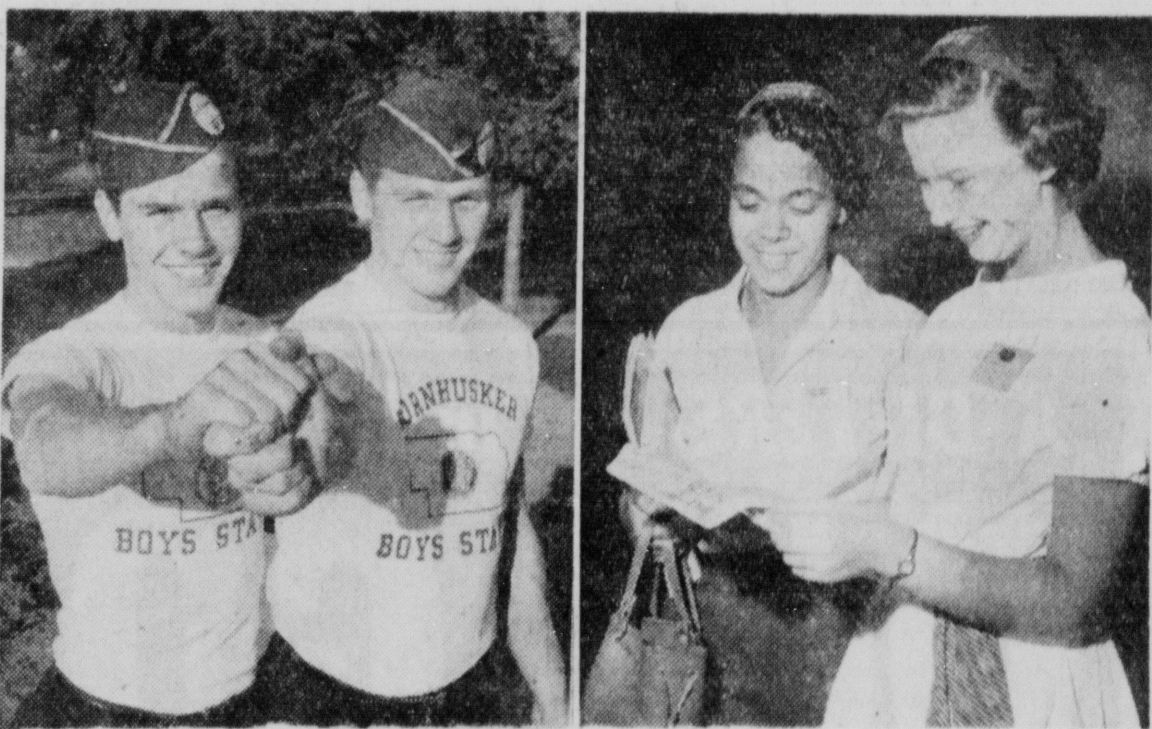

John revived and softly said to Mrs. Vaida: "Pray for me, I think I'm dying."

As Mrs. Vaida knelt in prayer, Richard ran to the house to summon the Bellevue rescue squad.

The rescue squad completed treatment of John and revived Grandfather Vaida.

John suffered only from shock.

The boys and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vaida, are visiting at the grandparents farm.

$16 Million Span Collapses; 15 Die

... 7 Lost, 22 Hurt As Bridge Falls

Vancouver, B. C. (P)—Caught without warning, at least 15 workmen fell 200 feet to their death Tuesday as 2 sections of a nearly-completed, 6-lane bridge collapsed in a tangle of twisted steel.

Seven others were reported missing. Twenty two were hospitalized, some of them crushed and mangled.

A search for other possible victims continued into the night.

The $16 million dollar bridge across tide-ripped Burrard Inlet was nearing the Vancouver shore when the 2 end sections of the mile-long center span gave way with a rumble like thunder and the grinding screech of bending girders.

Upwards of 40 to 50 men were reported working on the 2 sections at the time they sagged and dropped into the inlet.

Many of the dead were caught in the flailing superstructure. Others who had been shaken off were crushed as tons of concrete and steel hit them in the water.

One of the survivors, Don Mitchell, said "everything happened so quickly there was little sensation of fear." He rode the first section down.

miles east of downtown Vancouver, said 10 bodies had been recovered by rescue craft and skindivers who probed the inlet to its 40-foot depth.

There was no official explanation for the collapse, but a foreman who declined to give his name said he believed a jetty supporting the end of the incomplete bridge as it jutted toward the opposite shore may have given way.

The 6-lane bridge, 2 years in building, was to have been completed late this year and provide rapid transit between Vancouver and the suburbs on the north shore of the inlet, which sweeps in from the Georgia Strait.

Labor Bill Aimed At Racketeers Passes Senate

Lone 'No' Vote Is Cast By Malone

... Goes To House

Washington (AP) — The Senate Tuesday night passed a general labor bill aimed at driving racketeers and crooked officials out of the labor movement and giving rank-and-file members more control over unions.

The rollcall vote was 88-1. The lone "No" vote was cast by Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.).

The bill, subject of 5 days of bitter debate on the Senate floor, now goes to the House. Hearings on similar legislation are under way in that body, but the measure's prospects there are uncertain.

The bill embodies the most far-reaching labor legislation to be considered by Congress since passage of the Taft-Hartley Law in 1947.

Only One Accepted

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and other sponsors of the bill, which they conceded did not satisfy either extreme in the politically-charged labor field, succeeded in defeating on the Senate floor all amendments they opposed but one.

This was done by a coalition consisting mostly of Democratic votes, but including several Republicans led by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), a co-sponsor of the bill.

The sponsors called the bill strong and effective in dealing with union abuses, but not punitive. They argued that the measure should not seek to curb legitimate activities of unions, which they said would be the effect of many of the defeated amendments.

VA Hearing To Be Held In City Hall

The congressional inquiry into proposed moving of the Veterans Administration regional offices from Lincoln to Omaha will be held in the city hall council chamber. Earlier, it was thought it would be at the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

This was announced Tuesday by Chairman Thomas R. Pansing of the special Chamber of Commerce committee which is arranging for the 2-man congressional questioning group, consisting of Congressman B. F. Sisk of California and Congressman Phil Weaver of Nebraska.

"They will start at 4 o'clock and they will hear any persons who have previously requested recognition from either Congressman Sisk or Congressman Weaver. We know that representatives of the Lincoln Chamber, of the Veterans Building Corporation and possibly an employee of the Veterans Administration will be heard. We probably won't know the entire list until the congressmen fly in here Thursday morning," Pansing said.

No word has been received whether any witnesses will come from Omaha for the hearing. Invitation to do so from Congressman Weaver was relayed to the Omaha Chamber Tuesday by the Lincoln Chamber.

RONIN ASKS TRANSFER OF COURT FEES

County Judge Herbert A. Ronin Tuesday asked the Lancaster County Board to take steps to have more than $1-225 in unclaimed court fees transferred to the county's general fund.

Judge Ronin said the 16 persons and firms for whom the money has been held for the last 10 years have not claimed it, and in accordance with state law he now wishes it transferred to the county. Largest amount is the $897.01 due to a Charles Potter, address unknown, from an estate.

Only other amounts of more than $100 are those due to William Totten Greusel, also known as Earl Bowman ($100) and Jesse J. Jones ($125.85). Efforts to locate them also have proved unsuccessful.

June 30 Set Deadline For Complaints

... City Assessments

The City Council, meeting as the Board of Equalization, set June 30 as the deadline for receiving property assessment complaints.

Hugh Thorne was named chairman of the equalization board at its organization meeting Monday.

City Clerk Theo Berg reported that only one assessment complaint has been received so far.

The Board will receive complaints from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. daily.

Hearings on assessment complaints will be held after June 30. The board, by law, is required to meet not less than 3 nor more than 30 days.

Berg said the equalization board received about a half-dozen assessment appeals last year.

Denver Girl, 17, Committed To Training School

A 17-year-old Denver, Colo., girl was committed Tuesday in Lancaster District Court to the Geneva Girls Training School on a burglary charge.

Ruth Acosta had pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer. Her companion in the incident, Richard D. Petersen of Denver, received a one-year Reformatory term last week. They were charged with burglarizing the Schmall Trailer Court at 2700 No. 27th of several dollars in change May 25.

Burglary Nets Youth 2-Year Reformatory Term

Walter Edwin Hassenplug of Rt. 5 was sentenced Tuesday in Lancaster District Court to a 2-year Men's Reformatory term on a burglary charge.

Hassenplug pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer to violating the probation on which he had been placed last October. The 19-year-old youth was then sentenced to prison on the original burglary charge, to which he had also pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Warner Gets Hospital Advisory Post

Mrs. Charles J. Warner of Waverly was appointed Tuesday to the advisory board for the Lincoln State Hospital by Governor Victor Anderson.

Mrs. Warner, widow of the late Charles J. Warner, former lieutenant governor of Nebraska, resides at the family farm home at Waverly.

She has been active for many years in the Republican Party and community projects.

Her appointment will expire March 1, 1963.

Other members of the board are Dr. Charles H. Arnold and Dr. Harry A. Taylor, both of Lincoln, and J. H. Hay and E. J. Sessinghaus, both of Omaha.

Governor Anderson said he was "extremely pleased" that Mrs. Warner had accepted the appointment and indicated the board would meet in the near future to assist Mrs. Warner in familiarizing herself with the duties and functions of the members.

No Inquest In Death Of 2½-Year-Old

No coroner's inquest will be held in the fatal shooting of Michael Thompson, 2½, according to Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele.

Michael Keller, 15, who admitted he accidentally shot the boy, has been released.

Scheele said he contacted the young victim's parent's, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson, before deciding not to hold the inquest.

He said a lie detector test given to young Keller verified the youth's story that the shooting was accidental.

The tot was shot Monday by Keller, who was cleaning his .22 calibre rifle.

Strike Continues

London (AP) — London busmen defied both their union leaders and the government and voted to carry on with a strike now in its seventh week.

Omaha Banker Found Guilty Of Drunken Driving

Omaha banker Bruce H. Thomas was found guilty Tuesday in Municipal Court here of drunken driving and fined $100.

His driving privileges were also suspended 6 months. Thomas, 50, appealed the conviction and posted a $500 appeal bond.

Thomas, vice president of an Omaha bank, was arrested here June 7 after police said the car he was driving violated a stop signal in downtown Lincoln. They said when they stopped his car they found him to be intoxicated.

Thomas also was found guilty of violating the stop signal and appealed this conviction along with the drunken driving conviction. He had pleaded innocent to both charges.

2 Escapees Arrested In Colorado

Brighton, Colo. (AP) — Two Nebraska reformatory escapees were arrested Tuesday at the home of one youth's uncle near Westminster, a Denver suburb.

Deputy Sheriff Phil Laurita of Adams county, identified them as Jerry Lee Meyers, Kearney, Neb., and Rodrick Oren Bense, Grand Island, Neb. Both are 20.

They were arrested at the home of Meyers' Uncle. Laurita said neither youth resisted and neither was armed. The uncle was not at home.

The pair were serving 18-months to 3-year terms.

Laurita said both youths would be held here pending the arrival of Lincoln officers.

Reformatory Superintendent Harold Smith said late Tuesday that no arrangements have as yet been made to transfer the 2 escapees back to Lincoln.

Also still at large is Delbert B. Smith, 29, who escaped while working last Sunday. He was serving a 2-year term in the State Penitentiary for breaking jail in Thurston County.

Bombay (AP) — A strike of 40,000 dockers in Bombay was joined by pilots who refused to man tugs used for moving freighters and liners into berth.

Summer NU Rolls Hit 3,321

A summer-school enrollment of 3,321 at the University of Nebraska, an increase of 133 over a year ago, was announced Tuesday by Dr. Frank Sorenson, director of summer sessions.

He said the increase was principally in undergraduate students who are continuing their education on a year-round basis. He estimated that about half of the enrollment figure consists of undergraduates.

In addition, nearly 1,300 Nebraska high school students are on the University's Lincoln campuses. Three hundred thirty-one students are enrolled in University High School; 285 in the Nebraska All-State Fine Arts Course; 310 in Boys' State; and 345 in Girls' State.

Also, Dr. Sorenson said, 180 elementary pupils are attending Bancroft School and 173 in Eastridge Grade School, both operated this summer by the University. Besides allowing school children to continue their formal education, the schools provide student-teacher laboratories for Teachers College, he said.

Van Dorn Paving Completion Date Is 'Mid-August'

West Van Dorn Street is expected to be fully paved from Folsom to 10th by the middle of August, Co. Engineer Louis Weaver reported Tuesday to the County Board.

Weaver said contracts for paving of about a 2-block stretch from 9th west will be let in 2 weeks, and that completion of the $10,000 project will finish the paving of West Van Dorn.

Princess To Wed

Rome (AP) — Italian Princess Alessandra Torlonia, often mentioned as a possible wife for Belgium's King Baudouin, will marry a commoner instead.

Her plans to wed Clemente Lequio, son of an Italian diplomat, became known with publication of their engagement in the City Hall registry.

Brozek Sentenced To Reformatory In Sodomy Case

Thomas J. Brozek Jr. of 134 No. 18th Tuesday was sentenced in Lancaster District Court to a one-year Men's Reformatory term on a sodomy charge.

Brozek, 24, had pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer. He was charged with having unnatural sexual relations with Floyd Bledso Jr., 21, of 1437 Q on May 29.

Bledso also has pleaded guilty to a sodomy charge but has not yet been sentenced. A robbery charge also filed against Bledso has been dismissed at the motion of the County Attorney.

Stock Car Driver Off Track; Fined $10 For Speeding

Lloyd Beckman, 5340 Gladstone, a Lincoln stock car driver was fined $10 for speeding by Judge Lydia Long in West Lincoln Police Court.

The Capitol Beach Speedway competitor pleaded guilty to charges of speeding 35 m.p.h. in a 20 m.p.h. zone and 55 m.p.h. in a 45 m.p.h. zone.

Jerry J. Sheldon of 943 Nelson was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcoholic liquor. Judge Long also ordered his driver's license suspended for 6 months.

Champ Leaves

New York (UPI) — Bobby Fischer, 15-year-old American chess champion, left by plane for the Soviet Union to play a series of exhibition matches. Young Fischer said he also would participate in an international tournament in Yugoslavia Aug. 5 to Sept. 15 before returning home.

'Ambulance Chasing' Hearing Recesses; Trial Set Sept. 8

A hearing on the State of Nebraska's "ambulance chasing" suit against the Grand Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, several of its Nebraska lodges and officers and Minneapolis attorney Philip Lush, recessed Tuesday afternoon until the trial opens in Lincoln Sept. 8.

The state brought the original action before the Nebraska Supreme Court charging the defendants with improper solicitation of legal business in connection with train accident injury cases.

The Supreme Court appointed former Seward County Judge Paul H. Bek as referee to take evidence.

The hearing ended when Marco Verbon of Minneapolis and Torrance, Calif., formerly employed as a regional investigator for the law firm with which Lush is connected, had completed his testimony and been cross-examined.

Lincoln attorney Chauncey Barney is representing Lush in the suit, and Robert Guenzel represents the Grand Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, local lodges at Falls City, Fairbury, Grand Island, Chadron and Lincoln and their officers named in the case.

Attorneys Robert Nelson of Lincoln and John Samson of Omaha have been named as special assistants to the Attorney General's office in the case.

A witness for the state, Verbon related incidents involved with his work while employed by the Minneapolis law firm. He has given testimony on similar cases in Montana and Iowa.

8th Graders To Receive More Science

An additional science course for junior high school 8th graders is being prepared by 5 science teachers spending some of their vacation at planning sessions.

Directed by the retiring coordinator of junior high schools curriculum, Miss Nora Veerhusen, the group is working on one of 2 proposed elective courses, and in addition next year will boost the junior high school curriculum to 5 semesters, 2 required courses and 3 elective.

The new elective course for the 8th grade will be initiated in the second semester of next year, and include 6 units: how man learned to fly, ocean of air, science of flight, network of airways, uses of aircraft, and space and space travel.

Science teachers attending are Carroll Unland of Northeast High School, who will have charge of science teaching at the new Culler Junior high; Mrs. Florence Boring of Everett, Henry Goebel and James Carlin of Irving, and Dale Rathe of Millard Lefler.

Dulles Expresses Doubt There Will Be A Summit Meet

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles questioned whether there will be a summit conference. He expressed his doubt at a news conference, following Monday's Soviet denunciations of the West's plan for preparing for a possible heads-of-government meeting. Dulles said it was not easy to evaluate why the Kremlin made public the documents which had been passed back and forth during hush-hush Moscow talks between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and the U.S., British and French ambassadors. One document, a tough-tongued letter from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to President Eisenhower and the British and French chiefs of government, drew special attention from Dulles. He said it indicated unwillingness on Russia's part to face up to practical problems. The whole situation means the West must now re-evaluate summit prospects. Dulles said the Russians want a summit conference only on their own terms.

"They want ... a propaganda victory, where they could give the free world the impression that the cold war was over," he said. On the other hand, he added, the West wants "not a mere spectacle but a real means of solving some of the world's problems." Knottier Issues The secretary said nobody disputes the basic Soviet premise that a summit meeting should settle problems which seem to lend themselves to solution, then go on to knottier issues. But, he asked, how could you tell which was which unless you explored them on a lower level first? Maybe, he suggested, the Russians feared a diplomatic study "would disclose such a disparity of views that there would really be no solid, logical reason for having such a (summit) conference." "I still think it will be a little time before there is a summit conference, if indeed there is one at all," Dulles said. He noted 6 months of pre-summit talks already have gone by and "quite a lot of problems remain totally unresolved."

SHOES STRETCHED BY NEW LIQUID

Suffer no more the pinch of tight shoes. A new liquid stretch is aimed to relieve foot woes. The liquid formula was discovered quite accidentally by Frederick Schaeffer, a Los Angeles inventor.

What the liquid does is to increase the size of leather by as much as eight percent ... and permanently, too! There's no shrinkage at a later time, as usually comes with ordinary shoe-stretching, because this chemical solution works on the cells of leather to make them larger, softer and more pliable. The colorless liquid comes in a small bottle and takes no effort to apply. Just pour it on a cloth and rub on the tight area of the shoe. There's no harm to the skin, stockings or shoes, and it is effective on suede, alligator and all other shoe leathers. Recommended for relief from corns and bunions. And children will get another six weeks wear from outgrown shoes. Get some soon!

Better Tax Enforcement

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Wall Street Journal has done a little research on what is happening across the nation to state taxes as a result of the recession. The survey shows that Nebraska's limited tax base does have certain advantages, particularly at such time as this.

It also shows that there is a lot that can be done by way of strict enforcement of the tax laws. The survey showed that the recession has caused concern among states with sales and income taxes. The business cutback has meant more people with no income to tax and many with smaller incomes than the previous year. To get around this loss of revenue, the states are doing two things—enforcing present laws more rigidly and plugging legal loopholes.

The case for both actions is particularly timely for Nebraska, still bogged down with hopeless indecision on its own tax problems. The survey reports that in Iowa, the state's income tax was previously considered a joke. Many people didn't pay it all and few, if any, paid what they actually owed.

But the state tax commissioner changed all this. A case was won in court against a man who had altered a cancelled check he used to support a $100 deduction for charitable purposes. Now, a great many other cases are pending and the Iowa income tax is no longer a joke.

As an example of this new respect in Iowa for the law, a case is cited in which a dentist voluntarily paid $500 to cover past tax delinquencies plus a 50 per cent penalty fee and interest at 6 per cent a year. If this isn't getting results, then we don't know what the term means.

It makes those who pooh-pooh tax law enforcement look pretty silly. We still maintain that if the present Nebraska laws were enforced strongly enough in the areas of tangible and intangible personal property, a substantial increase in revenue would be realized.

So long as Nebraska lets people get away with filing the kind of return they want to, there will be little uniformity of payment and a great loss of income. People are not going to list large inventories and substantial stock holdings when their friends and acquaintances don't do it and when the state lets them get away with it.

And to a great extent, you can't blame the taxpayers for this. The blame lies with those officials who fail to enforce the laws. Then, there are areas in Nebraska where the law needs revision to remove present legal loopholes.

Such a case has been emphasized by State Senator Terry Carpenter in regard to taxation of stock holdings in domesticated foreign corporations. Such stocks are exempt from taxation in Nebraska and we fail to see why. They represent an accumulation of wealth that, under the law, is forever removed from the tax laws. There is certainly less excuse for this than for the homeowner who might have every penny of savings he has tied up in a house in which he lives. It would seem that this would be a fruitful area of pursuit for the state.

The only consolation we can find for Nebraska is the fact that the property tax should not be as likely as the income tax to fluctuate according to economic conditions. Unless conditions become critical, people somehow manage to hang on to most of their property, thus leaving the tax base in fairly sound condition.

"He May Not Be Doing So Well In California, But—"

DREW PEARSON

Knight Discussing Political Fortunes

WASHINGTON — Good old Gov. "Goodie" Knight of California is feeling no great pain regarding the political setback of Bill Knowland, the man who made him move out of his own re-election race. However, the good governor, who now wants to be senator, should be more discreet in talking over the telephone.

Gossiping with his office in Sacramento from Perino's Restaurant in Los Angeles the other day, Gov. Knight reported:

"Things are looking good. J. D. Reilly, vice president of the Todd shipyard, came in to see me this morning with a big wad of dough and said 'We're giving this to you because we think you're going to win.'"

Gov. Knight went on to report that Clint Mosher, assistant political editor of the San Francisco Examiner, had also called to tell him not to worry about Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, the Republican who rolled up a lot of votes against Knight in the primary race for the Senate.

"Unless he comes out for you," Knight reported Mosher as telling him, "we'll knock him out in San Francisco."

Knight's office told him he had an invitation to the annual encampment of the Bohemian Grove, the exclusive California club which invites leaders from all over the nation to relax at a rustic mountain retreat every summer. Gov. Knight has been there several times and always seemed to be a joyous guest. But this time he had other ideas about Bohemian Grove members, some of whom had pulled out on him last fall in favor of Knowland.

"I don't want to be around with a lot of millionaires acting like tramps!" the governor told his office. "All you have at the Bohemian Grove is dirty food and dirty beds. I won't go unless it'll serve some political purpose."

The governor's Sacramento office then told him Whitaker and Baxter, his public relations counsel which withdrew from his campaign, had issued a statement that the reason for their withdrawal was because Knight wouldn't take their advice.

"Their statement," observed the governor, "is against the spirit of our understanding."

The good governor ended the conversation and went back to his lunch.

ADAMS-GO-ROUND

It pays to know Bernard Goldfine, the woolen-weaving friend of Sherman Adams. Goldfine's secretary, blonde, svelte Miss Mildred Paperman, drives to work in a Cadillac, has two mink coats, and draws a salary of around $300 weekly. She's the gal who balked at turning Goldfine's records over to congressional investigators. It's reported that Goldfine charged the Adamases' $2,400 oriental rug up to Strathmore Woolens as a business expense, and the Adamases' vicuna coat up to Northfield Mills as a business expense. If so, he probably won't be in trouble with Internal Revenue, because Internal Revenue isn't going after good Republicans. Not a word was said about those unpaid gift taxes which should have been paid on Nixon's $18,000 personal expense fund.

DORIS FLEESON

Adams Considered Indispensable Man

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Sherman Adams is probably correct in saying that her husband will be forced to resign, but the real pressure on the White House is coming not, as she suggested, from Democrats, but from livid and frightened Republicans.

Democrats in Congress have been told by their leaders that this fire needs no stoking for the present. The word is to let the Harris subcommittee carry on, and assurances are given that it has plenty of kindling.

The story is mushrooming on several levels.

The Harris subcommittee began to put in the background. Its probers named the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, as another temporary stop for what is now known here as the oldest permanent floating hotel home. The Waldorf tab picked up for Industrialist Adams: $529.34.

The basis was laid, too, for arguing that Goldfine may have profited, after all, by Adams' intercession. It was disclosed that a Federal Trade Commission attorney had "vigorously recommended" criminal prosecution for Goldfine but was overruled by his superiors. They settled for a promise by Goldfine to change the textile labels which were the basis of the complaint.

President Eisenhower was back in his office, receiving the news, counsel and complaints. Further comment was denied by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, which was a move in the direction of common sense, since the Adams silence leaves Hagerty weaponless.

It was announced that the President would hold his regular weekly conference. Betting was about even on whether he would withhold judgment until the whole story was in or would announce Adams' resignation.

Politicians privately discussed the case as offering a hard choice to the President.

Ethically and politically, they felt, his course was clear. On such grounds, they saw no alternative to the firing of Adams.

But they also have watched the President's management of the government establishment for five and a half years and they see Adams as the nearest thing to the indispensable man in Washington.

Veterans here realize that every government operation carries with it a heavy freight of background, detail, secrets and people. Only Adams knows it; he has tirelessly worked at it. Experienced men ask themselves seriously if the government itself will not suffer if Adams is suddenly dropped.

Poles Fear Armed Germany

WARSAW, Poland — Despite the alarm sounded recently, the best information of western diplomats here is that Soviet Russia has not yet established intermediate-range missile bases either in Poland or East Germany. But the same diplomats believe that such bases will be installed shortly.

A belief of informed Poles is that Moscow will not install missile bases in satellite territory unless and until West Germany's armed forces are furnished atomic weapons by the United States. That will be the signal for immediate retaliation, and very quickly on both sides of the Iron Curtain all of the principal cities will be in the range of almost instant destruction.

This is what Poles, regardless of their political belief, universally dread. For they are convinced that when this happens, all hope of relaxing tension will be at an end and the world will live on the brink of terror.

Poland's dread is related, of course, to the deep feeling about Germany that runs through all kinds and classes of people in the country that suffered so terribly under German occupation.

When the German Bundestag in March approved atomic arms for Germany's new army, Polish newspapers compared this to Hitler's rise to power in 1933. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's speech the other day expressing a new Germany's determination to have atomic weapons stirred a reaction of suspicion and fear in this country where war between the East and the West has again taken a fearful toll.

The Polish belief is that American policy-makers have encouraged, if they have not initiated, the German atomic policy. They see Adenauer as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' star pupil in the cold war. And inevitably they see themselves as paying the price for the war.

KONRAD ADENAUER

When Dulles, as he has done in several recent speeches — notably in New Hampshire and Berlin — proclaims that the cold war must go on with no relaxation of tension in order to give satellite peoples a hope of freedom, the reaction here is one of bitterness and frustration tempered by a kind of sardonic humor.

For to informed Poles — and this again covers people of almost every belief and prejudice — it is obvious that only with the relaxation of tension can Poland begin to enlarge the limited independence and relative freedom that came after upheaval of 1956. With an intensification of cold war, the clamps will be tightened and all hope of gradual evolution toward a free way of life will vanish.

On balance, it is felt here the likelihood, despite what is considered the threatening German attitude, is for an approach to a settlement that can come only after many starts and stops over a long period of time. Soviet Russia will make concessions, the Poles believe, to have a summit conference with western powers. This belief is based on Nikita S. Khrushchev's bid to Washington for greatly expanded trade and on other recent signs that the Poles interpret as evidence of de-termination in Moscow for "peaceful coexistence."

Not long ago one of the mass circulation British newspapers carried an interview with German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss. The young, aggressive Strauss, whom many consider Adenauer's heir, was quoted as saying that Germany was certain to become the third atomic power with the help of America and that if France should try to catch up, the Germans would make at least three strides for every one the French took.

While Strauss later said that he had been misunderstood and he had not meant to say some of the things attributed to him, the interview made a deep impression on the Poles, who follow world affairs closely.

The visitor may put this down to an emotionalism, which is understandable in seeing the ruins that still stand out and in hearing the tales of horror of occupation that come out casually in conversation. As this is a deep and powerful feeling, not alone in Poland but through much of Central and Eastern Europe, it cannot be simply brushed aside.

Seeking And Finding

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Vacation time is here and everyone is dashing thither and yon. They go so fast, fly so high, they miss everything in between. They go to shop, wine, dine and dance, all of which they could have done much cheaper at home.

Me, I like to travel, slow like, watching a never ceasing film of wonder magic—perhaps a stream cutting clear and calm through the flat lands, a lost road curling out of somewhere, wandering carelessly into nowhere like a lonely tramp, a weather-beaten shack standing forsaken, with neither man nor beast to comfort. Now the land begins to roughen with boulders tossed there by giant hands. Hills in the distance grow into mountains that tower in upward majestic sweep like deserted castles. Sudden steeples of rock like ancient cathedrals flanked by walls of pink and gray rock formations piled layer upon layer to lofty heights. Small cedars cling to narrow shelves. Dead trees bleaching like skeletons twisted in their anguish of dying. Others standing bravely green but stripped naked of their bark by the elements that had lashed and swept upon them throughout the years.

Such majestic beauty fascinates me. Seemingly so peacefully still, one feels the violence it contains. Yesterday tall green pines stood upon the mountain slope. Fire swept down upon them. Too proud to fall, they stand with charred branches held heavenward as if beseeching deliverance from their agony. Far beyond, sculptured into the rocks, the "Sleeping Woman" lies face down in timeless waiting to be awakened. Or perhaps it is the Cross ever filled with snow that holds one in awe of the Hand that placed it there.

Later, coming to gaze upon the ocean. Still, in the moonlight, like a woman deep in slumber, to awaken with the dawn as a playful kitten. The white-capped breakers rolling in, six to 10 feet high. I know of no greater thrill than wading out to meet their challenge. Backing in sideways, you jump and ride skyward. Again and again you meet and jump. If you miss, you are swallowed within a huge sea-green bubble that leaves you in a delight of breathless exhilaration. To ride along the highway, thick fog enfolds you within itself, a world of white, mysterious dreamlike. Then high upon a bluff with the wind in your hair, gentle rain cool and fresh upon your face, to see the brilliant colors of a rainbow span the sky and a sleepy river far below ripple away into the night.

Why seek so desperately when so much is so near, and if your heart is content? The wonders of man can never outdo the miracles of God.

Time Stands Still In East-West Trip

As transitory as "This year's hotel" in Miami are the remote, "undiscovered and unspoiled" vacation spots in Europe, the places you learn about only after a blood oath not to reveal the information to another tourist. With successive waves of tourists washing over Europe, those paradises are getting harder and harder to find, and smaller and smaller. Right after the war, whole countries were comparatively undiscovered — Austria first, then Spain, next there were the coastal islands, like Majorca, followed by strips of coastal delight, like the Spanish Costa Brava, and, ultimately, remote Italian fishing villages.

An American couple made privy to the pristine glories of one of those fishing villages — it lies between Genoa and Spezia, can be reached only by sea or rail because there are no roads into it — arrived there, heard practically every language but old Icelandic within 15 minutes and then bumped into an English couple departing in disgust. "This place," said the English lady, "is practically INFESTED with foreigners."

When Pan American's Boeing Jet 707 makes a test flight across the Atlantic sometime later this year, doing the course in about five and one-half hours, passengers should have a look at the record to keep the miracle in perspective. It took Columbus 70 days, the Mayflower passengers 97 days, the first U.S. Steamship Savannah 26 days (1919), Lindbergh 33 hours and 30 minutes.

And the mind boggles at the tricks time zone differences and jet speed will play with the lives and routines of 707 passengers flying east to west with the clock.

A passenger could breakfast in London on kippers and, because New York is five hours earlier than London, arrive in New York in time for a breakfast of ham and eggs. And he could move on, assuming he could move at all, to shirred eggs at the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

Waiter, a little seltzer with those shirred eggs.

Compromise Water Measure Okayed By Senate

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday night approved a $1,556,220,600 substitute rivers and harbors bill for the one vetoed by President Eisenhower 2 months ago.

The vote was 75 to 1. Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) cast the only vote against the measure, which represented a "negotiated peace" between the Senate and the administration.

Both House and Senate bills include $1,214,000 for Gering and Mitchell Valleys, $13,314,000 for Salt Creek and its tributaries and $2,025,000 for Shell Creek. All are flood control projects in Nebraska.

the original bill the President refused to sign.

The bill now goes to the House, which will take it up Wednesday. Earlier Tuesday the House public works committee approved a rivers and harbors bill that would authorize $1,555,746,000 worth of new projects.

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) said later the committee bill would be brought up on the floor Wednesday under a rarely used procedure that would bar amendments, limit debate and require a two-thirds vote for passage.

The Senate bill carried authorization, but no funds for 151 new and continuing flood control, navigation, irrigation and water power projects.

'Pork Barrel' Bill

The new rivers and harbors measure, often labeled the congressional "pork barrel" bill, made no changes in the projects that were included in the vetoed bill that the President did not single out in his veto.

The projects to which Eisenhower objected were either dropped, changed to meet the objections, or kept in the bill with the agreement of the budget bureau.

Dropped were authorizations for the Hidden and Buchanan reservoirs in California with total cost of $23,400,000.

Also dropped was specific authorization of the Sherwood reservoir in Oklahoma, without changing the $53,235,000 authorization for the Red-Ouchita River basin.

Another important change was the reduction of about $10 million originally authorized for hurricane flood control projects in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Texas.

Caution Urged On U.S. Hwy. 20

The State Department of Roads has cautioned motorists using U.S. Highway 20 in Holt County to look out for center line stripping crews.

The department said several crew members have been killed in the past by motorists.

The crew, numbering from 15 to 20 men, will center strip over 700 miles of highway, beginning on U.S. 20 in Holt County, and going west to Chadron and Crawford, and returning east via Neb. 2 to Lincoln.

The crew expects to cover from 60 to 80 miles per day, depending on the weather, the department said.

Judge Spikes 1st To Receive Judicial Retirement Benefits

Former District Judge William F. Spikes of St. Paul has become the first jurist approved for retirement benefits under the 1955 Judges Retirement Law passed by the Legislature.

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds, which holds an administrative role in the system, approved retirement pay of $433.16 a month for Judge Spikes.

Glen I. Anderson, director of the retirement systems, said Judge Spikes had paid $566.66 into the fund since Jan. 3, 1957, when such assessments began.

$55,000 In Fund

The judges retirement fund now has some $55,000 in it, he said. Money is being received into the fund at a rate which would carry at least 9 retired district judges and still leave the $55,000 in reserve, Anderson estimated.

Now that some time and experience have accumulated, an actuarial study will be made of the fund for purposes of a report to the Legislature, Anderson said.

"I think probably the fund will need a little appropriation from the Legislature but not a big amount," he said.

Extended Coverage

The 1955 retirement law covered district and supreme court judges. The 1957 legislative session extended coverage to county judges and judges of the workmen's compensation court.

In other action, the board of educational lands and funds invested $705,000 of school funds in 2½% government securities. Bought at a discount, the securities will yield approximately 2.85% interest.

The board approved the renewal of a gravel lease by the Platte Valley Construction

Co., Grand Island, on school land about 4 miles west of Grand Island.

The board accepted $3,094.07 from the estate of the late Raymond Paez of Douglas County. The money went to the state in the absence of heirs.

A recent oil and gas lease sale brought a straight 50c an acre, the board reported. W. F. Manasil was awarded the leases on 2,480 acres in Garfield County and 640 acres in Loup County. Carl P. Nichols bid successfully on 640 acres in Keith County.

8 Candidates File Expense Reports

Primary campaign expense reports from 8 candidates were received Tuesday in the Secretary of State's office in response to a letter from Frank Marsh reminding them the reports were due May 23.

Marsh also had told the candidates their names will be turned over to Attorney General C. S. Beck next Monday if their reports have not been received by that time.

Expense reports received Tuesday included 7 from public power district candidates and one legislative candidate, Sen. D. J. Cole of Merriman who reported his campaign expenditures at $79.

Court Convened

Birmingham, England (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church convened a court of inquiry to decide whether to recommend sainthood for Cardinal Newman.

The cardinal, who died in 1890, is regarded by many Catholics as one of the greatest of all religious thinkers. It may be 50 years or so before the church reaches a final decision.

New Hunt For Oil
Ottawa (AP)—Canadian government geologists will explore the Gulf of St. Lawrence for oil this summer. It will be their first systematic search for oil over the continental shelf extending from the coastline out for distances up to 22 miles.

Dive Ordered
Matera, Italy (UPI)—Police held Giovanni Grosso on charges of forcing his wife to strip naked on a secluded river bank and then dive to her death in the water because he believed she was unfaithful.

Police said his 21-year-old wife, Maddelina, apparently did as she was ordered without protest. Authorities had no evidence that Grosso's wife betrayed him. The couple had been married one year.

Attacks Seen
Vienna (UPI)—The Czechoslovak Communist party will open its 11th Congress in Prague for a 4-day stand that was expected to produce severe new attacks on President Tito and Yugoslavia.

Some 1,400 delegates were scheduled to consider party problems in the light of recent developments in the Communist world.

Crop Outlook Continues Favorable Despite Few Dry Spots And Insects

... Wheat Harvest May Start Last Week in June

Nebraska crops made "generally good" progress last week, although a few dry spots were showing up and insects were getting in their seasonal ticks, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

In general the crop outlook remains quite favorable, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. Winter wheat is beginning to turn and the corn crop is making good to excellent headway.

The planting phase is about over for the year, the report said. Only around 5% of sorghums remained to be seeded as of last week end but some replanting of corn and sorghums has been going on where stands were thinned by crusted soil, washing rain or cut worms.

Winter wheat has headed throughout the state and the crop is beginning to ripen in the southeast.

Some sections expect harvest to begin the last week of June or possibly a little earlier.

Wheat is reported filling nicely. The crop is tall and heads are abundant. Some wheat has lodged and hail has hit some western sections but yields over-all still appear headed for all-time records.

Spring oats and barley are somewhat spotted, but winter barley and rye are promising. Grasshoppers are reported thick in the southwestern counties on ranges and pastures and along fence rows. Wheat should escape damage but some concern is felt for alfalfa, corn and sorghums unless control measures are effective.

Scattered eastern counties show evidence of corn borer infestation and cut worms have been troublesome locally.

The first cutting of alfalfa hay is under way. Some quality losses were experienced in sections receiving heavy rains, but generally tonnage and quality are above average.

Milk and egg production rates have been running ahead of last year. Livestock have plenty of feed, pasture and range.

Rainfall over the state during the week ending Monday included:

Grand Island	East	.50
Lincoln	.57 Norfolk	1.85
	.17 Omaha
	Central
Buywell	.41 Valentine	1.72
North Platte	.36
	West
Chadron	1.83 Scottsbluff	1.13
Imperial	2.07 Sidney	.27

Here are rainfall averages since April 1 in sections of Nebraska, with long-time averages for the comparable period in parenthesis:

Northwest	6.66 inches (6.12)
North Central	7.96 (6.78)
Northeast	6.86 (7.58)
Central	7.34 (7.37)
East Central	6.34 (7.87)
Southwest	6.45 (6.38)
South Central	5.89 (7.50)
Southeast	7.44 (8.61)

'Transition Area' Operators Need Aid, Claims Henderson

If economic and social opportunities are to be equalized in the "transition area" of Nebraska, there must be some kind of financing which will make it possible for good operators to survive droughts and price-cost squeezes.

That's the opinion of Philip Henderson, Extension farm economist at the University of Nebraska, who spoke at a 2-day board meeting of the Farm Credit Banks of Omaha held at the College of Agriculture.

The "transition area" of Nebraska lies between the intensive corn region to the east and the extensive wheat and ranching area to the west, Henderson pointed out.

The economist added further that there may be a need for longer term loans and greater flexibility in repayments. If this is done it may be necessary to tie loans to crop insurance or life insurance, he explained.

Extensive studies in the area show there is a need for farmers to have built-in means of insurance, said Henderson. There is a need for more fallowing of land, stubble mulch farming, irrigation where justified, and more emphasis on livestock rather than crops.

There also is a need for greater flexibility in the farming program, he said. This would include growing drought resistant crops such as grain sorghum rather than corn. In the case of livestock, a more flexible program might be achieved by having both cows and steers as opposed to cows alone.

also need to use fertilizer strictly in line with moisture conditions.

People in the "transition area" need reserves both in terms of cash savings and also in feed; especially where high quality breeding herds are involved, he added.

Other needed adjustments in the area included improved rental terms.

Refunding Of $150,000 Set For Hall County Taxpayers

Grand Island, Neb. (AP) — The Hall County Board of Supervisors announced plans Tuesday for refunding $150,000 in tax moneys to local taxpayers.

The refund was made necessary when Nebraska Supreme Court held that the Grand Island school board could not legally transfer $150,000 from the general fund to the building fund of the school district.

Following a meeting with Cecil Way of the State Auditor's office, County Clerk Walt Loescher announced for the board that taxpayers will have to come personally between June 20 and July 7 to make their claims for refunds on county property tax, personal property tax and motor vehicle tax. The claims will then be reviewed by the board of supervisors and checks drawn by the county treasurer.

The suit challenging the legality of the transfer of funds was filed by the Union Pacific Railroad.

Officials said cost to the county in this case will be about $5,000.

3 Postmastership Nominations OK'd

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower has sent the Senate 3 Nebraska postmaster nominations.

They are Albert W. Metcalf of Hyannis, Anton Semrad of Prague and Clement J. Suchanek of St. Paul.

Unguided Epistle

Lublin, Wis. (AP) — Steve Plecko of Chicago, sent $5 to his son here at Christmas-time. Christmas rolled by and the money failed to arrive. Months later the letter finally got here. It had taken an unscheduled trip to Dublin, Ireland.

Brownville Bridge Toll Period Extended

Washington (AP) — A bill extending the toll collection period on a Missouri River bridge between Atchison County, Mo., and Nemaha County, Neb., was passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

The bill extends the collection period for 10 years. The current authority expires this year.

Miss Johnson Named Polk Deputy Treasurer

Osceola, Neb. — Effective July 1 Alice Johnson will be the new Polk County deputy treasurer, replacing Marian Boden, who resigned. Miss Johnson has served as clerk in the county clerk's office.

Omaha, Fremont Teachers Cited

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha branch, National Conference of Christians and Jews, awarded 2 school teachers scholarships to a human relations workshop at Stanford University.

They went to Mrs. Lurlyn Johnson of Omaha and Helen Morrow, a Tekamah resident who teaches in Fremont. The scholarships have been awarded for 10 years.

Farmer At Royal Dies Suddenly

Royal, Neb. (AP) — Edward Yelli, about 60, dropped dead on a Royal street.

Yelli, who farms near Royal, had worked all day driving a tractor in the fields. He suffered from a heart condition.

Survivors include his widow and 7 sons and daughters.

Surprise Party--For Graduation

Earlier this month Don Bloom received his degree from the University of Nebraska College of Law—Yesterday the bar exams were all over—and last evening Mrs. Bloom (the former Mary Sue Holland) thought it was a good idea to celebrate. So, she invited 28 guests for a patio supper—a surprise for Mr. Bloom. The surprise angle was not without its anxious moments—Mr. Bloom had a golf date, but fortunately it was with one of the party guests who managed to get the honoree home at a fairly early hour. In the picture (from left) standing in back, Ted O'Shea, Ray Greer, Tom Jones, Jerry Druliner, Bob Reynolds, Bill Kimball, Bill Brown, and Gordon Jenkins; seated, Harold Anderson, Lyle Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bloom, Tom Ludwig, and kneeling in front, Mrs. Lyle Holland.

SUBURBIA

The younger set takes top priority this morning due to two very recent arrivals, but summer news of visitors and travelers is still much in evidence.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

A young lady who became a member of the tarmac powder set on Tuesday, June 10, was Miss Phyllis Jo Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton. Phyllis was born at Lincoln General Hospital, and included among her most ardent admirers are her sisters, Marcia and Shelley, and brothers, Robert and Ned.

Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver (for whom she is named), and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thornton of Omaha are the paternal grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Ulrich are the proud parents of a new daughter, Debra Sue, who arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Wednesday, June 11.

Debra's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Larsen and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ulrich.

Hear Talks

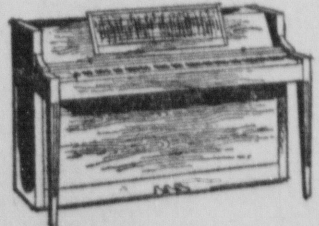

Miss Mercedes Ames was toastmistress Monday evening at the dinner-meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club, held at the Capital Hotel.

Demonstrating impromptu talks without the use of gestures were Mrs. O. J. Martens, "How To Set A Table"; Mrs. Harry Gaylor, "How To Eat Spaghetti"; and Mrs. Josephine Eyer, "How To Ride A Bicycle". Also a program speaker was Mrs. Millard Bennett, "Unusual Friendships".

Guests of the Club were Miss Sherry Gaylor, Miss Harriet Turner and Mrs. Georgie Stephenson, and serving as toastmistress was Miss Cora Mae Briggs. Mrs. Chesta Beckwith presided.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Strange as it seems, babies can suffer from boredom, too. As baby begins to stay awake for longer periods of time, he may fret because he doesn't know what to do with this extra waking time. You can help relieve this boredom in these ways:

- Provide bright colored objects for baby to look at—a spot of music or talk to listen to.
- Provide a variety of touch-and-grasp objects with different surfaces and textures—various sizes.

8 Savory ways to give baby the complete proteins he needs for growth and strength. Gerber Strained Meats are rich in these body-building food values. Only selected Armour cuts are used for these quality meats. After careful trimming, they're specially processed to preserve natural meat flavors and the utmost in wholesome food values. Nothing added! They're all pure meat with just enough natural broth to make the texture velvet smooth. P. S. If baby has learned to chew, you'll want to get Gerber Junior Meats with an evenly minced texture.

Sun tan reminders. With June bustin' out all over, you'll want to sun your cherub. A few reminders: Start with 2 minutes a day, fore and aft. Increase by 2 minutes a day until you've reached the half-hour mark. Do not exceed 30 minutes no matter how tan you think baby is. Place baby with his head toward sun—his eyes away from sun.

Fruitful ideas. Almost everyone wants more fruit in summer, and babies and toddlers are no exception. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits give a real lift to summer menus and appetites. They look and taste luscious because they're specially prepared to "lock in" tempting colors, natural flavors and nutritional values. 9 Strained varieties, 8 Junior Fruits. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

By The Dawn's Early Light

—by the dawn's early light we made the rounds, conversation-wise, this morning and picked up some news of this one and that one from here and there—Homecomers, for instance—and a new address are included in our chatter. We have news, also, of travelers and a bride-elect or two to mention.

—let's talk about the new address first—Dr. and Mrs. Richard Wieland (Lynn Holland) have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis DuTeau at 2115 Stockwell, and will be moving in about mid-July. Dr. Wieland, it seems, will be released from the service around about July 7, and is motoring from San Diego to Lincoln.

—this seems to be our morning for new addresses—Next Monday or Tuesday will find Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rucklos and their daughter, Fredericka, in their new home at 3777 So. 40th St. Mrs. Rucklos, who is spending several days in Chicago, will be arriving home just ahead of the moving vans. She is due in town on Sunday.

—familiar names and faces are expected back in town next week—Among them will be Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell who are expected home next mid-week from their summer home in the far north.

—and home from a trip to Seattle, where she attended a national conference of the Green Thumbs Club—and Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., just for instance holiday trip—will be Mrs. Frank Boehmer.

—one of the very recent homecomers is Mrs. Donald W. Miller who returned home on Sunday evening from Mexico where she had been spending a few weeks.

—also among the home-againers are Mrs. E. J. Faulkner and Mrs. Bert Reed who returned on Monday evening from a brief holiday at the Broadmoor, Colorado Springs.

—there are those, however, who are just taking off for interesting places—Next Monday a Chi Omega five-some will be leaving for the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, Va., to attend Chi Omega sorority's annual convention.

In the group will be Mrs. Joyce Young, Lincoln club alumni delegate; Miss Reba Kinne, Miss Jan Roach and Miss Blanche Miskovsky.

—and plane-ing off on Thursday for the New Ocean

House, Swampscoot, Mass., where the Pi Beta Phi convention will be in progress from June 22 to June 28, will be Miss Ruth Louise Dierks, president of Mu Province; Mrs. Kent Morrison, province vice-president; Mrs. Dick Wagner, alumnae club delegate, and Miss Karen Peterson, delegate from the active chapter.

—this morning one of our July brides-elect makes an announcement of the bridal party. Miss Carol Unterseher, whose marriage to John C. Gourlay will take place on July 5, has chosen her sister, Miss Elaine Unterseher as her maid of honor. The foursome of bridesmaids will include Mr. Gourlay's sister, Miss Helen Gourlay and Miss Frances Gourlay; Mrs. Richard Rice and Miss Phyllis Cast.

James Gourlay will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Neil Unterseher, Ed Cripe, Jr., Tom Cowan and John Peterson.

NEWS OF THE BRIDES-ELECT

Announcing the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Bernice Storkan whose marriage to Richard Lee Taylor will be an event of Sunday, June 22.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at Christ Methodist Church, the bride-to-be has named Miss Judy Banner of Dallas, Tex., as her maid of honor, and the matron of honor will be Mrs. James Crow, sister of the bridegroom-elect. In attendance as bridesmaids will be Miss Hope Oberle of Minneapolis, Miss Pat Reeves of Chicago, Miss Janet Purdy of Boston, and Miss Dionne Jeannotot of Lincoln. Mrs. Monte Buel of Denver and Mrs. Woody Woodrum, sister of Mr. Taylor, will be the bridesmatrons, and lighting the candles for the 7 o'clock ceremony will be Mrs. Charles Kline, also a sister of Mr. Taylor, and Mrs. James Krcmarik. Miss Janet Crow and Miss Susan Crow will be the flower girls. James and Gary Crow will be the ring bearers.

The bride-elect's brother, Robert Storkan, will serve Mr. Taylor as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Monte Buel of Denver, Robert Hines, Ronald Lowrey, John Ravins, Chester Prichard, William Franklin and Howard Fager.

Miss Storkan was honored at a linen shower and dessert luncheon recently when Mrs. Charles Wendelin was hostess to 12 guests at her home.

A bride-to-be who is making plans for an early autumn wedding is Miss Kay Gregory of Scottsbluff, a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority at the University of Nebraska, who has chosen Sept. 8 as the date for her marriage to Gene Seger of O'Neill.

In courtesy to Miss Gregory, members of the active chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha entertained recently at a miscellaneous shower. Co-hostesses for the informal evening were Miss Mary Jane Wilhite, Miss Mary Maxwell and Miss Trudy Jarvis.

Officers Installed

The Insurance Women of Lincoln met Tuesday evening for dinner at the Capital Hotel and formally installed new officers for the coming year.

Marriage

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Alta Wisner to John Palmer Knoche which was solemnized on Thursday afternoon, June 12. The lines of the 4 o'clock service were read by Dr. Frank Court in the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church with only the members of the immediate family attending.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schnirl, nephew and niece of the bride, attended the couple. The bride chose for her wedding a full-skirted, sheer silk gown in dusty rose with which she wore white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Knoche will reside at 3225 So. 40th, upon their return from a wedding trip to Denver.

Betrothal

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William Pretzer of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Phyllis, to Don L. Bornemeier, son of Mrs. Frank Bornemeier of Murdock, and the late Mr. Bornemeier.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, Aug. 10.

Dear Abby . . .

Skeleton In The Closet? Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a week-end wife and I don't like it. My husband could very easily come home every night, but he says he is too tired to make it, so he stays in the city all week and comes home for the week-end. Out children hardly ever see him, and I get very lonesome, too. We've been married 17 years and I'm not bragging when I say people tell me I look like a girl of 25. I keep the house nice, always serve good meals, and have trained the children to be quiet and respectful. So why doesn't he come home?

WEEK-END WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You are only 2-7 married. Find out more about what he is doing with the other 5-7 of his life. If necessary, get a place to live nearer to his work—but if you don't put a stop to being a weekend wife, your weak end is your HEAD!

DEAR ABBY: My grandfather is always trying to hug and kiss my grandmother while watching TV in the evening. My mother acts disgusted, telling them to act their age. They are over 60 and I would like you to tell me if you think they are too old to hug and kiss. LINDA

DEAR LINDA: I've heard of people being TOO YOUNG to hug and kiss—but never TOO OLD!

DEAR ABBY: I think I am in love with a fellow I saw once once. He is a sailor and we happen to meet the night before he shipped out. We only spent seven hours together, but we both fell in love. I promised him I'd wait for him and marry him when he gets back into port. He sent me a pillow case from the ship's store. It says on it, "Sweetheart, I love you." Is this true love and what would you do if you were me?

MISS GRETCHEN PAUL

Of interest to town and campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Paul of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gretchen, to Dr. Warren Diefendorf, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Diefendorf of Waterville, Kan.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 9, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First United Presbyterian Church. Miss Paul was graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority, of which she has served as president, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Diefendorf attended the University of Kansas and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta and Xi Psi Phi fraternities.

MRS. RICHARD F. KEMNITZ

MRS. WILLIAM HUGH RILEY

Gladioli and peonies in pastel tones appointed the altar of St. Bonaventure Church at Columbus Saturday morning, June 14, for the wedding of Miss Patricia Tworek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tworek, and Richard F. Kemnitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kemnitz, all of Columbus. The 10:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Kenneth Schlessner.

Wearing a wide-skirted frock of pastel blue embroidered nylon sheer and carrying pink daisies was Mrs. Donald Henggeler of Omaha, who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaid, costumed in pink, was Miss Lucille Aerni, Columbus.

Chantilly lace and tulle over satin in traditional white were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. Iridescent sequins patterned the lace to highlight the V neckline, and long mitts completed the brief sleeves. The lace was repeated in a mantle effect over tiers of tulle to form the full skirt, and her mantilla veil was fashioned of the lace. She carried a cascade of white roses and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemnitz will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom, a graduate of Norfolk Junior College, is attending the University of Nebraska. At a high noon ceremony solemnized on Saturday, June 14, Miss Margaret Demaris Birmingham, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Birmingham of O'Neill, and the late Mr. Birmingham, became the bride of William Hugh Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Riley of Fairbury. The lines of the service were read by the Very Rev. Timothy O'Sullivan at St. Patrick's Church in O'Neill.

Miss Barbara Birmingham of O'Neill was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Louise Birmingham and Miss Mary Froelich, O'Neill, and Miss Sally Anne Ralph of Emmetsburg, Ia. Mrs. D. J. Becker, O'Neill, and Mrs. C. J. Gatz, Jr., Omaha, were the bridesmaids.

Serving as best man was Daniel Riley of Fairbury, and the corps of ushers included Gene Erwin, William Nuckells and Victor Schluckebier, Fairbury; Charles Swingle and Charles Meehan, Lincoln; and C. J. Gatz, Jr., of Omaha.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white imported lace over satin designed in the princess mode.

Delicate scallops of the lace edged the bateau neckline and the abbreviated sleeves of the sculptured bodice, and below the elongated waist, the circular skirt flared into extreme width and extended into a chapel train. A queen's crown of pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a pinnacle bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Following a reception at the Town House, the couple left for a Colorado honeymoon trip, later to reside in Omaha. Mr. Riley, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, will enter Creighton University College of Law in September.

Nebraska members of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be well represented at the national convention of the organization, to be held at Seattle, July 6 to 11. Planning to attend will be the following state officers: Miss Sarah Jane Cunningham, Lincoln, president; Mrs. Alma L. Truax, Scottsbluff, first vice president; Mrs. Helen H. Kokes, Ord, second vice president; Miss Marie E. Blazek, Omaha, third vice president; and Miss Marjorie M. Eisenhart, McCook, corresponding secretary; as well as Miss Hattie Steinberg of Lincoln, national recording secretary and former Nebraska federation president.

Going from Lincoln will be Miss Gwendoline Birky, Miss Bernice J. Clark, Mrs. Maude E. Peters, Miss Pauline Soder, Miss Anne E. Young, Miss Mercedes Tevebaugh, Miss Gladys E. Pieper and Miss Dorothy Tiller.

10 The Lincoln Star Wednesday, June 18, 1958

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

I should report that I arrived home just in the nick for the village Aquacade.

This is an important annual event. The fairest maidens play their finny parts. We parents stand approvingly on green grass sidelines.

"There's Susie! Second from the end! Hurray for Susie!"

Well, on the great day, I put on my best aloha shirt, hung my camera around my neck and set off with the small boy in tow.

There was a hint of unseasonal rain in the air. And the various lady directors were tapping nervously on the microphone. The microphone gave out little reassuring hiccoughs.

Behind me I heard a small voice in the entry line:

"Mommy, why do we have to go to the bathroom now?"

"Shush!"

A lady announcer collared the microphone and said we should all expect a lovely performance. She thanked us all. Also all the participants. On with the show.

The small boy disappeared and I found him taking the lawn sprinkler apart. When I got back, our seats were gone. We spent the rest of the show on tiptoe, looking over people's heads.

At our Aquacades we have water ballets. We have on the poolside ballets. We have many, many costume numbers. It is a community affair.

In community affairs, everybody reserves the right to criticize.

One of our main criticisms is when our daughter is costumed in a bathing suit that cannot be worn for the rest of the season.

We feel that the show should be colorful. But when we are tagged with a candy-stripe bathing suit at $15.50, we are extremely critical of the staging.

We had a good deal of luck this year. Our daughter was a seal in the circus act. The seals wore black bathing suits—perfectly usable all year. Maybe next year, too.

Other parents were not so lucky. They looked very gloomy indeed and spoke of the high cost of living and how county taxes were getting unreasonable. What was the world coming to, they would like to know?

However, it was a very good Aquacade. We made $6000 for the hospital—a point of charity that makes my daughter feel extremely noble. She reminds me of it whenever I mention the high cost of living and county taxes.

The rain held off—we feel Providence is with us in our affairs.

We shook hands with a number of people who asked if we had been out of town. This is very polite. But discouraging when you have had a newspaper dateline running out of Japan for two months.

The "Sayonara" number was beautiful.

It was a splendid Aquacade. We hope the new black bathing suit will last maybe two seasons. Thank you.

CARPET FIRM BRIEF ASKS NEW TRIAL

Owners of the Peterson Carpet Company, Lincoln, filed a brief in Supreme Court maintaining they deserve a new trial in Lancaster District Court in a contract action.

The brief was filed by attorneys for Thure E. Peterson and Elva Peterson who do business as the Peterson Carpet Co. The suit was brought against them by the O. C. Hirsch Construction Company. The suit involves work done in barracks at the Lincoln Air Force Base. Peterson subcontracted a portion of the work to the construction company for $49,688.

The suit charged that $18,121 was due on the contract and $5,000 was due for additional work. The construction company asked the district court for a $23,121 settlement.

The jury rendered a verdict of $17,483 for one cause of action and $500 for the other, bringing the total settlement to $17,983.

The Peterson firm appealed.

$776 Thousand Of Goldfine Firms' Checks Uncashed, Probers Told

Washington (AP) — There was a hint of a three-quarter-million-dollar mystery when Bernard Goldfine's bookkeeper gave House investigators a couple of big bundles of Goldfine records.

Committee Counsel Robert W. Lishman spoke of records from the Pilgrim Trust Co. in Boston-Miss Paperman ton. And he said that as of May 7 a total of $776,879.16 worth of checks drawn on Goldfine companies were outstanding and uncashed. He said the checks go back as far as 1941.

Lishman said outstanding treasurers' checks drawn on the Goldfine companies but still uncashed as of that date totaled $357,867. He said certified checks uncashed as of May 7 came to $419,012.

Mildred Paperman, blonde bookkeeper for industrialist Goldfine, said she could not account for the uncashed checks and "I don't think it pertains to these hearings at all. That pertains to the private affairs of Mr. Goldfine."

Mayflower in Plymouth, Mass., were the "principal" hotels which Goldfine uses for entertainment.

All of Adams' Sheraton Plaza bills were paid by one Goldfine Company because the account there was charged to that company, she said. She did not identify the company.

Under the subcommittee subpoena the Goldfine bookkeeper brought records of Sheraton Plaza bills paid from 1950 to 1958, the Waldorf in 1954-55 and the Mayflower in 1957 and part of 1955.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) asked that Goldfine himself be called to testify.

Miss Paperman said Goldfine is "a very busy man" and wouldn't know the "details" of the subpoenaed records.

Chairman Harris didn't commit himself one way or the other on whether he would summon the Boston industrialist.

New Trial Asked In Accident Suit

Virginia Tate, administratrix for the Wenzl J. Seidl estate, asked the Supreme Court to grant a new trial in an accident case in Lancaster District Court.

The request was contained in a brief filed in Supreme Court. It is the result of a 1955 accident on West O street near Lincoln involving the late Wenzl J. Seidl, a taxi driver, and Donna Borgman.

The trial court awarded Donna Borgman $2,000 on her cross-petition and denied an award to Seidl.

10,000 Men Called In August Draft

Washington (AP) — The Army Tuesday issued a draft call for 10,000 men in August. This is the same quota previously announced for June and July.

The new call brought to 2,352,430 the total number drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of selective service in September, 1950.

According to the State Selective Service office, this will mean that a draft call of approximately 90 will be issued for Nebraska.

State Records Another Week Without Polio

The trend of fewer polio cases in Nebraska continued to hold up as the State Health Department reported that no new cases were recorded during the past week.

The state now has 7 cases of polio on the record books compared to 31 at this time last year.

The number of measles is continuing to build up. Another 34 cases were added the past week to bring the total this year to 1,263 compared to 210 last year.

Buc Triples Sink Giants

Pittsburgh (P)—Ted Kluszewski, Roman Mejias and Bill Virdon blasted triples in the second inning Tuesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates sent five runs across the plate and went on to defeat the San Francisco Giants 6-1.

Plate umpire Anthony Venzon ejected manager Bill Rigney and coach Herman Franks of the Giants from the game in the fifth inning.

Franks disputed several balls that Venzon called on Frank Thomas, who walked. Then, when Rigney argued over Franks' ejection, Venzon also ordered him out of the game.

Curt Ruydon, who gained his second victory against two defeats, pitched masterful ball up until the ninth when the Giants threatened, and relief Roy Face had to come on to save the game.

Raydon, who has earned both his victories at the expense of the Giants, allowed nine hits, walked four and struck out six before leaving the game with runners on first and second and none out. Face retired the side without any trouble.

Missouri, Southern Cal In College Series Final

Omaha (P)—Missouri trimmed the NCAA College Baseball World Series final to two teams Tuesday night by eliminating Western Michigan, 3 to 1.

Missouri, unbeaten in the series, plays Southern California, beaten once, tonight at 8 p.m. CST. A Missouri win will end the tourney. A Southern Cal win will bring another game Thursday night.

Doug Gulick hurled four hit balls as he beat Western Michigan for the second time. He had given the Michigan club but four hits in the first round.

Sonny Seibert, who is hitting .600 in the series, scored all of the Missouri runs. He singled in the second and scored, beat out an infield hit and scored on Hank Kuhlman's single as Missouri took a 2 to 1 lead in the seventh and tripled and scored on Bob Haas' double in the ninth.

Missouri 010 000 101-3 8 1
Western Mich. 101 000 000-2 6 0
Doug Gulick and Hank Kuhlman; Dick Sosnowski and Larry Belanger.

Southern California in the first game eliminated Holy Cross, 6 to 2.

Southern Cal, pre-tourney favorite, went to work in a hurry on Hal Deitz, who had blanked the Trojans in the first round.

USC tallied in the first on Ken Guffey's lead-off triple.

Pueblo Takes 3rd

Des Moines (P)—Lou Jackson's sixth-inning home run was the winning margin as Pueblo defeated Des Moines, 3-2, in their series opener Tuesday night to move into 3rd place in the Western League.

The Giants' only run came in the first inning when Felipe Alou hit Raydon's first pitch over the left field wall.

In the second inning, Kluszewski, who returned to the lineup after having been benched, tripled. Thomas singled scoring Kluszewski. Then Majias tripled to send Thomas across. Foiles beat out an infield hit to score Mejias. Virdon then tripled and crossed the plate after Mejias when catcher Bob Schmidt missed a throw.

The Pirates added their final run in the eighth on Kluszewski's single, a walk, wild pitch and an outfield fly.

Johnny Antonelli was charged with his fifth loss against six victories.

San Francisco (P)—Pittsburgh (P)—Ted Kluszewski, Roman Mejias and Bill Virdon blasted triples in the second inning Tuesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates sent five runs across the plate and went on to defeat the San Francisco Giants 6-1.

Deitz got the third out but was relieved to start the third inning by Neville Hugelmeyer, who silenced Southern Cal with two hits and one run the rest of the way.

Bruce Gardner, who took over for starter Jim Barudoni after two outs in the fifth inning, received credit for his second series victory.

Cub Fans Hope Rookie Dick Ellsworth Proves To Be Another Moe Drabowsky

Chicago (AP) — In 18-year-old Dick Ellsworth, the Chicago Cubs may have speared another pitching find like Moe Drabowsky, who skipped the minor leagues completely in attaining major league stardom.

Ellsworth was the talk of Cub fans—and chagrined White Sox fans, too—after blanking the Sox 1-0 on a 4-hitter in a Comisky Park exhibition Monday night five days after his graduation from Fresno, Calif., High School.

Lefty Ellsworth, 6 feet, 4, 180 pounds, displayed amazing poise and pitching talent as he waded into big league pressure in stride before 21,804 patrons. The four Sox hits all were singles.

Chortled Cub Manager Bob Scheffing: "He was wonderful. Hadn't seen him throw a ball until last night. But I'd have to say he's ready to help us right now. I can't say anything else—at least until someone scores a run off him, can I?"

Ellsworth, signed for a reported $70,000, brought a 105-5 record in three years of high school and American Legion ball into his first professional start.

Drabowsky, who signed a bonus contract in 1956 and

Loup City Keeps Sherman-Howard Lead

Farwell — Loup City maintained its lead in the Sherman-Howard League last week by beating Wolbach, 3-2.

The loop leaders have a 6-0 record. In other games, Farwell ripped Spalding, 15-8. Elba beat Greeley, 9-1 and Scotia edged Ord, 3-1.

Fairbury Expects Big Meet Crowd

Fairbury — The largest crowd in the history of Fairbury baseball is expected to be on hand for the opening of the amateur baseball tournament July 3, 1958, at Quinn Field.

Governor Victor Anderson will pitch the first ball. Mayors from surrounding towns will take part in the opening ceremonies.

One of the features of the opening night program will be the giant fireworks display opening night, July 3.

Another feature of the opening night is the beauty queen parade.

BOND MARKET
New York (AP)—U. S. government bonds declined for the fourth consecutive session Tuesday in moderately active trading.
Corporate securities closed lower on average after a day of inconclusive miling. The market opened slightly soft, but rallied around midday to go narrowly over on the upside, then drifted lower at the closing.
Utilities and foreign dollar bonds gave ground. Investment quality issues were firm. Rails and industrials were narrow. Trading declined to $5,540,000 par value on the big board from $5,730,000 Monday.

What every investor should know

This booklet may be worth THOUSANDS of dollars to you!

..... yet it's Free!

"What every investor should know"

Just off the press—a new, easy-to-read booklet on investing—written in simple terms and illustrated with entertaining cartoon style.

Everyone will enjoy its "common sense" discussion of subjects like these:

• Planning an Investment Program

• What Kinds of Securities Are There?

• How Are Securities Bought and Sold?

• Can You Predict Income from Securities?

• How To Read the Financial Page

... and many others.

Care for a copy? No cost—No obligation.
